

To whom it may concern at the FCC:

I am writing to restate my support for the NJ 'Do Not Call' list regardless of the stricter guidelines of the state.

The telephone is something I pay for and I should have the right to determine who can use it and distribute my number as I see fit. I own my car and home as well and I have the ability to refuse trespass to these things as well.

I work three jobs at present, have 3 teenagers and an elderly grandmother with me - if I choose to have some quiet time on a rare occasion or a quiet family meal - I have that right.

Thank you for considering my stand on this issue.
